★ COURSE OVERVIEW

In order to design successful systems, it is critical first to understand a company's business operations. The success of IT systems in organisations depends upon them fulfilling a business need and this can only be achieved if the business need is identified and understood.

Analysts need to make use of various tools and techniques to accurately model business processes and subsequently develop appropriate designs to fulfill an organisation's business objectives.

To assist IT professionals in achieving this goal, AstroTech is offering a training programme on "Business Analysis and Systems Analysis".

The course includes the following:

- What is Business Analysis & Systems Analysis?
- User requirements analysis & definition
- Modelling the business/system
- Process modelling
- Data modelling
- Work flow modelling
- Modelling tools & techniques
- Structuring & validating user requirements
- Facilitation & elicitation skills for business & systems analysis
- Process flow analysis
- New system modelling
- Implementation strategies
- Preparing & presenting recommendations
- Documentation
- Systems development lifecycles
- JAD & RAD

...AND MUCH MORE!
